CHILEAN NITRATE—WORLD'S ONLY NATURAL NITRATE

Whatever the crop—corn, cotton, tobacco, pastures, small grains, fruits, vegetables—Chilean Soda top-dressings and side-dressings give the best results, lowest costs, largest net profits.

Natural Chilean works fast. Corn responds beautifully at rates up to 500 pounds per acre or more, 40 to 50 days after planting. The nitrogen in Chilean is 100 per cent fast-acting nitrate—available at the critical stage of crop development.

Natural Chilean boosts yields. On cotton, side-dressings of 300 pounds or more, 35 to 40 days after planting, produce heavy yields, early maturing plants. On pastures, too, it's a more efficient summer fertilizer than ammonia.

Natural Chilean contains sodium. Ammonia nitrogen is acid-forming and must be changed to the nitrate form in the soil, but every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone for destroying soil acidity.

Natural Chilean benefits crop and soil. It corrects acidity, improves potash, phosphorus, calcium, magnesium and minor element availability. Chilean is one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers for side-dressing summer crops. Ask for Bulldog Soda. Look for the Bulldog on the bag.

Coffee County Cattleman's Association Will Meet Thursday Night in New Brockton at 6:30

The Coffee County Cattleman's Association will hold their annual meeting Thursday night, Feb. 9 at the New Brockton school house at 6:30 o'clock. The program will begin at 7:30 with J. Ernie Lambert of Darlington as guest speaker.

Lambert was born on the farm at Darlington and has a degree in Animal Husbandry from Auburn in 1924. He has been in charge of the cattle operation on the R. E. Lambert & Son farm since 1927. This operation consists of both a commercial herd and a registered herd.

D. H. I. A. Herds Pass 6000-Pound Mark

A new high mark in efficient milk production has been reached by a group of Alabama dairymen.

Cows on Dairy Herd Improvement Association test in this state last year averaged giving 6,194 pounds of milk and 264 pounds of butterfat. Milk production was 338 pounds per cow above that of 1954, and butterfat was 10 percent higher than the previous year.

According to Oscar Crosby Jr., API Extension assistant dairyman, the 1955 figures represent a 1438-pound milk increase and a 45-pound fat increase over the average production in 1949, the first year of the DHIA program here.

Cold, flu and pneumonia hit hogs as well as humans at this time of year. A simple shed that turns cold rain and wind can save feed, gains, and in many cases, death losses.

Cows that produce less than 3,000 pounds of milk per year are of questionable value. A dairyman certainly ought to cull such animals if his herd average is above that figure.

Farmers Are Rich in Research Information

AUBURN—When a farmer follows recommendations in planting approved corn seed, he's getting the benefit of many years' research.

So says Ralph R. Jones, API Extension seed crops specialist. Speaking of Alabama plantings in the season that's just ahead, he said this week that 25 recommended hybrid varieties are available, with some suitable for growth in every part of the state.

"Variety recommendations are the result of careful experimentation and weeding out by API Experiment Station scientists," Jones pointed out. Twenty-three corn varieties were eliminated in tests for this year. Many others had already been checked off in preliminary tests.

As the specialist explained, 10 of the 20 varieties on the 1955 approved list are yellow corn; the other 10 are white. A farmer can choose a good variety of the kind of corn he prefers to grow. And whichever he picks, he can't go wrong.

LABOR DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL SAYS—

New Minimum Wage Impact Will Be Three Times Greater in South Than in Rest of Nation

BIRMINGHAM—The impact of the new minimum wage on the South will be three times as great as the rest of the nation, according to a report by the U. S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division, which is in Birmingham.

He said that in terms of wages which must be increased, the annual national payroll would go up around 7 percent, but added that "Payroll impact will not be measured entirely in the terms of wages which must be raised from below one dollar."

"In order to maintain appropriate spreads between the salaries paid more and less skilled workers, raises for the lower paid will bring in their wake in many instances, increases for more now paid a dollar or more."

Brown said the industries primarily concerned in Alabama will be sawmills, where 3-48¢ of the workers are paid less than a dollar; work clothing, men's and boys' dress shirts, and men's seamless hosiery. Recent figures indicate that 28 percent of the manufacturing workers in the South are earning less than one dollar.

The increase on March 1 can have effects on the plus and minus side. "On the minus side there may be changes in the duration of unemployment, and a slow down in shift of industrial plants to the South," he said.

On the plus side, there is added pay in the pockets of wage earners. The general standard of living may go up. Businesses which sell consumer goods may be well advantaged.

He said a comprehensive analysis is under way to supply correct information about the effect of the increase. The information will be available for use by Congress in any future consideration of possible raises in the minimum wage.

The investigation staff of the Wage and Hour Division is being supplemented by 37 new men in the Southeast, according to Brown. This will bring to 86 the total investigators in the five-state area Alabama investigators are being increased to 20 from 12.

He said the prime responsibility of investigators would be to look into situations where violations of the Wage and Hour law were likely, but added they will be spending some time in finding affected workers and employers about the law.

The Washington labor official said that inquiries under the law should be directed to Homer E. Krog, Regional Director of the Wage and Hour Division. Krog is located at 1007 Comer Building, in Birmingham.

Coffee County Seniors Invited to Compete for Tuition Scholarship at Birmingham-Southern

High school seniors of Coffee County are invited to Birmingham-Southern College Saturday, Feb. 25 to compete for six tuition scholarships.

In the annual Phi Beta Kappa scholarship competition, Birmingham-Southern College offers two four-year scholarships, two scholarships covering tuition for two years and two scholarships for one year's tuition.

Seniors from all over Alabama will meet on campus at 8:30 A. M. Sat. Feb. 25 to take tests for the scholarships.

A luncheon and entertainment program will be given at noon in the college cafeteria, and the top-scoring contestants will be interviewed that afternoon.

The competitions are open to all high school seniors who will finish school not later than Jan. 1957.

Those wishing to enter should send transcripts of their high school records, signed by the principal, to Mrs. Leon Senaugh, Phi Beta Kappa Scholarship Committee, Birmingham-Southern College, Birmingham. Applications must be postmarked not later than midnight.

Two hundred twenty-one thousand pine seedlings were planted on cooperating farms. Pine trees can bring new life back to worn out land. Woodland properly managed can be a big help to mechanized farming. The terraces are laid out to use for fish production and recreation.

Farmers working together in Soil Conservation Districts will lead the Andalusia district campaign in support of the Birmingham-Southern College fund raising drive.

Bluing will not only help to keep white clothes looking white but will also prevent black linting from taking on a brown hue.

Boy Scouts Mark 46th Birthday

Onward... For God and My Country
46th ANNIVERSARY 1956
BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

More than 4,000 Cub Scouts, in today's world and to prepare them to carry their full share of responsibility in the years ahead, will observe Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12, marking the 46th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

Since 1910, Scouting has served over 24,000,000 boys and adult leaders.

The new Four-Year Program, "Onward for God and My Country," is launched in 1956 to help prepare America's boys to live dining and farming. Later he moved to New Brook and continued in the same line of business. Surviving are his wife, four sons, Jim, Curtis, Seth and Oscar Jones, all of New Brook; three daughters, Mrs. L. W. Stullgrove, Ozark, and Mrs. J. W. Brock and Mrs. Wade Sawyer, both of New Brook; one brother, R. T. Jones, New Brook; two sisters, Mrs. Rose Jones, New Brook, and Mrs. C. O. Hughes, Haw Ridge; also several grandchildren. Funeral services were held from the New Brook Baptist Church, Wednesday afternoon with Rev. W. M. Bush officiating. Burial was in New Brook cemetery.

There surely are not many people in this community who are as well-known as a cowboy singer and Negro helper came to town Saturday morning and without delay proceeded to stock up everybody with socks and shoes at six pairs for a dollar. It is estimated that the wily man separated our citizens from over $300, handing out money and grabbing the money as fast as the exchange could be made. It is such business in accord with the law allowing ex-servicemen license exemption, there is something wrong with the law. The local merchants' history is undoubtedly slim. Saturday and Sunday will be for some time. If it was legal for that socks salesman to come to town and sell $300 worth of merchandise without paying license what is there to prevent other ex-servicemen from doing the same? The law is to be changed, the grocery, hardware, drug and other kinds of business. —22 Years Ago—

Mrs. Rhodes said she suggested to Tub that perhaps it would be wise to wait a little while before putting out three old bucks, but Tub is not the waiting kind. So he paid the $3 charges and eagerly tore the package open. When a small sweet potato stared him in the face, he let out a war whoop and threw his hat down and thumped on it, exclaiming, "among other things, 'Everytime I ever looked at a Larkins it red me money.' After he had time to cool down, Tub took the matter philosophically and he proudly showing the potato to his friends. It was a fine specimen. Mr. Rhodes says he believes in buying the best of everything and he intends to make himself famous by establishing a strain of potatoes in this section using his $3 yam as a nucleus.

Some of the older folks around town bemoan the fact that the younger generation just isn't active like their fathers. After knowing some of the fathers for so many years I'm certain that's a good sign.

Walter Potter, popular Maryland distributor of those chain saws named after me, says the best way to locate a parking place is just to circle the block. You'll see the car ahead pulling into it.

Amazingly, many of the things we depend upon depend upon wood. Baseball bats, picnic hammers and water. Without forests we'd have none of these. No place to hunt, no place to gather water for the cities and industries, no place to picnic on hot days and no wood to make those fire-wood baskets that make those fire-wood baskets out of the local and lotter.

Friend of mine was trying to break his son of exasperating. One day recently, young Billy rushed into the house to tell his father he had just seen a huge bear in the garden.

"But," his father scolded, "You know it wasn't a bear at all. Go to your room and pray to God to forgive you for telling a lie."

When Billy came out of the bedroom he had a big smile on his face. "You were right, Dad," he said. "I was a bear, not when he first saw it, but when he saw it again."

A Texas friend of mine was visiting Australia. This fellow saw a kangaroo for the first time and was so impressed that he was a Texas kangaroo. "Ah," he said, "I've seen one thing for sure," he told his host, "Your grandsons are bigger kangaroos."

Charles Richardson With 4th Infantry Div

Army Specialist Third Class Charles H. Richardson, 20, son of Thomas J. Richardson of Kinston, recently took part in a field training exercise held by the 4th Infantry Division in Germany.

Training received by the 1st Division, part of the U. S. Seventh Army, includes intensive maneuvers and realistic field problems.

Specialist Richardson, a mail clerk in 3d Battalion Hq. Co. of the division's 21st Regiment, joined the Army in July 1954. He arrived overseas the following December from Camp Gordon, Ga.

A 1953 graduate of Kinston High School, Richardson attended Alabama State Teachers College in Troy.

So he paid the $3 charges and eagerly tore the package open. When a small sweet potato stared him in the face, he let out a war whoop and threw his hat down and thumped on it, exclaiming, "among other things, 'Everytime I ever looked at a Larkins it red me money.' After he had time to cool down, Tub took the matter philosophically and he proudly showing the potato to his friends. It was a fine specimen. Mr. Rhodes says he believes in buying the best of everything and he intends to make himself famous by establishing a strain of potatoes in this section using his $3 yam as a nucleus.

Some of the older folks around town bemoan the fact that the younger generation just isn't active like their fathers. After knowing some of the fathers for so many years I'm certain that's a good sign.

Walter Potter, popular Maryland distributor of those chain saws named after me, says the best way to locate a parking place is just to circle the block. You'll see the car ahead pulling into it.

Amazingly, many of the things we depend upon depend upon wood. Baseball bats, picnic hammers and water. Without forests we'd have none of these. No place to hunt, no place to gather water for the cities and industries, no place to picnic on hot days and no wood to make those fire-wood baskets that make those fire-wood baskets out of the local and lotter.

Friend of mine was trying to break his son of exasperating. One day recently, young Billy rushed into the house to tell his father he had just seen a huge bear in the garden.

"But," his father scolded, "You know it wasn't a bear at all. Go to your room and pray to God to forgive you for telling a lie."

When Billy came out of the bedroom he had a big smile on his face. "You were right, Dad," he said. "I was a bear, not when he first saw it, but when he saw it again."

A Texas friend of mine was visiting Australia. This fellow saw a kangaroo for the first time and was so impressed that he was a Texas kangaroo. "Ah," he said, "I've seen one thing for sure," he told his host, "Your grandsons are bigger kangaroos."

42.6 Miles of Paving Slated for Coffee County

In answer to recent complaints by Roy Shoffner of the road building program as it is going forward in Coffee County, we have tabulated a list of projects underway and planned for the county this year. Writing in The Ledger, Mr. Shoffner has inferred that the governor has overlooked this area when it comes to roads because he might have felt it was "in the bag" and he didn't need to worry about it.

Facts don't prove out this line of reasoning. Listed below are road paving projects on which construction has been started or is in the planning stage. A total of 42.6 miles of road is to be blacktopped. When this is compared to the 210 miles of road now paved in the county, it is really an imposing figure. With only 12 months of the administration gone, plans are ready to increase paved roads in the county by 20%. That hardly looks like Governor Folsom has forgotten that Coffee County provided him with a higher percentage of votes than any other county in the state.

We still say that road building is mainly the commissioners' job. Lots of the credit for this program must go to them. But we resent the fact that Mr. Shoffner sounded off about the county being neglected on administration gone, plans are ready to increase paved roads in the county by 20%. That hardly looks like Governor Folsom has forgotten that Coffee County provided him with a higher percentage of votes than any other county in the state.

We maintain that road building in Coffee County is going forward as fast as is possible under limitations imposed by personnel, equipment and finances. Priority of road construction is decided by the commissioners and is influenced by the results each commissioner gets from his funds and machinery.

City Political Stream Getting Muddled

Two city councilmen have now resigned their posts. Councilmen Shelby Morrow and Sam Bean Young have quit in writing that they will not be back in their seats around the council table on Monday nights. That leaves Alva Devane, Dr. C. P. Hayes and Stokes Haire to conduct the city business.

But it seems almost definitely assured that on Oct. 1 when the new city administration will take over, Elba will see the most thorough turnover witnessed in the past two decades. Most of the faces around the council table will be new.

Producers to Share

IN Wool Incentives
AUBURN—A change in the government's wool incentive program this year will benefit hundreds of Alabama farmers.

The new provision, which becomes effective April 1, enables growers who produce feeder lambs to get a share in incentive payments.

Commenting on the change, APT Extension Livestockman W. P. Gregory said this week that until now payments have been made when lambs were sold for slaughter. Thus, only the feeder got an incentive for a lamb.

Under the new regulation payments will be made each time a lamb is sold. Incentives are figured on the basis of weight gains during ownership of at least 30 days.

vs. Robert Mitchell, respondent.
In the Circuit Court of Coffee County, Alabama, in Equity, at Elba.
TAKE NOTICE that on January 31, 1956, an order was made and entered in the above entitled cause by the court setting Feb. 21, 1956, nine A. M. at Elba, Alabama, as the time and place for hearing claims against the partnership composed of C. B. Williams and Robert Mitchell.

That any creditor having a claim against said partnership must file said claim on or before Feb. 21, 1956, and do all things necessary to be ready for hearing said claim on February 21, 1956. This the 31st day of January, 1956.

It's a good idea to be inconsistent in the way you fold tablecloths, sheets, and other linens. Creating in one place a long period of time will weaken the fabric. Roll your good linens tablecloths on broom handles. Creases should never be ironed into linens.

Linens will stay fresh much longer if they are stored in a closed container in the refrigerator.
